Its key assumption is that policy-makers dealing with territorial development are in need of a future-oriented and integrated vision of development, that would help identify key regional and local challenges and translate the targets and objectives of Europe 2020 into territorial policy priorities. To help build such vision MMWD offers a sound and regionalized knowledge base, scenarios with a 2020 horizon that depict the implications of today's demographic change in local development terms, institutional capacity sessions and roundtables for transnational policy dialogue and cooperation on migration management. The scale of MMWD are SEE regions and cities. Local and regional authorities are at the forefront in facing the interrelated effects of demographic, economic and societal changes occurring on their territories. They are confronted with the need to actively intervene on such processes, and regain their full planning and strategic capacity to the benefit of all citizens. Specifically, MMWD focuses on three inter-related policy realms: Employment/ Human capital and education/ Social services. MMWD is a strategic project co-funded by the South East Europe Transnational Cooperation Programme, through the European Regional Development Fund (ERDF) and the Instrument for Pre-Accession Assistance (IPA)" (http://www.migration4growth.eu/).
